

Bromley Heath Infant School Responding and Feedback Policy

Introduction:

High quality feedback is integral to the continuous assessment of children, enabling teachers to plan next steps and differentiate effectively. It also provides opportunities to celebrate children's learning ensuring that they feel valued and enabling them to fully engage with their learning.

Aims:

At Bromley Heath infant school we aim to support children's learning by providing high quality feedback regularly that enables them to make rapid progress with their learning.

Feedback can be written or more often verbal, it will identify errors or misconceptions and will provide opportunities for children to reflect and act upon comments made.

All feedback will have an attention to detail which will consistently promote high standards and will provide the children with encouragement, guidance and opportunities to improve their work.

Feedback is also used to provide opportunities for children to develop accurate self and peer assessment skills.

Feedback:

In Foundation Stage, verbal and written feedback will be given in the presence of the child as reflected in the Foundation Stage Policy. However, as children progress through the school and produces a greater quantity of work, feedback will on occasion be provided away from the child.

The schools 'Feedback and Responding' codes are to be used in all year groups. (See Appendix 1)

All written comments should be written in blue ink using an exemplary cursive text. Responses should be clear for the child to read and understand and relate to the 'I can statements' or our learning attitudes.

The target star or triangle (See appendix 2) will be used to provide feedback on children's attainment of their secretarial skills. Children will be encouraged to self-assess against these criteria as they progress.

A wish will indicate next steps for the children and will be placed on the next page in their books. Time should be given for children to respond to feedback and revise, edit and improve their work.

Celebration of Achievement

Stickers, stamps, certificates and work presented in our star achievers assembly are used to celebrate high quality work.

WoW work will be displayed on class learning walls and highlight the successful features of the work.

This policy has been revised and agreed by staff and governors at BHIS and will be reviewed annually.
